

DEPARTMENT OF THE ARMY 2010
Pace Award

The Army Song

First to fight for the right
And to build the Nation's might
And the Army goes rolling along

Proud of all we have done
Fighting 'til the battle's won,
And the Army goes rolling along

Then it's Hi! Hi! Hey!
The Army's on its way
Count off the cadence loud and strong
(Two, three!)

For where'er we go
You will always know
That the Army goes rolling along

Reception

Department of the Army Pace Award

Named after former Secretary of the Army The Honorable Frank Pace, Jr., the Pace Award has been presented annually since 1962 to one Army officer, lieutenant colonel or below, and one civilian employee, GS-14 equivalent or below, assigned in a staff capacity to Headquarters, Department of the Army, for a contribution of outstanding significance to the Army that culminated during the calendar year. Awardees are selected based on their performance and completion of significant staff assignments that benefit the Army by providing substantial financial savings, or technological or military development.

The Honorable Frank Pace, Jr.

was born in Little Rock, Arkansas, on 5 July 1912; attended local schools and then the Hill School, Pottstown, Pennsylvania; graduated from Princeton University, 1933; received a degree from Harvard University, 1936; was admitted to the Arkansas bar and practiced law there, 1936–1942; was assistant district attorney of the Twelfth Judicial District, 1936–1938; was general attorney, Arkansas Revenue Department, 1938–1940; married Margaret Janney, 1940; entered the Army as a second lieutenant, 1942; served in the Air Transport Command, Army Air Corps, and emerged as a major, 1945; was a special assistant to the Attorney General, U.S. Taxation Division, 1946; was executive assistant to the Postmaster General, 1946–1948; was assistant director, 1948, then director, 1949–1950, of the Bureau of the Budget; served as Secretary of the Army, 12 April 1950–20 January 1953; executed the structural and functional changes mandated by the Army Organization Act of 1950 and headed the Army during the Korean War, 1950–1953; implemented policies to broaden the Army's use of Black manpower; elevated research and development to the Deputy Chief of Staff level; was chairman of the Defense Ministers Conference North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO), 1950; was chairman of the American Council of NATO, 1957–1960; was vice chairman, President's Commission on National Goals, 1959–1960; was a member of the President's Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board, 1961–1973; was chairman of the board, Corporation for Public Broadcasting, 1968–1972; was a member and past president of the National Institute of Social Sciences and a member of the Brookings Institution; died in Greenwich, Connecticut, on 8 January 1988.

Calendar Year 2010

Civilian
Recipient of the Pace Award

Ms. Daisy P. Crowley

Human Resource Specialist
Office of the Deputy Chief of Staff, G-1

Ms. Crowley is recognized for her significant contributions to the Department of the Army during calendar year 2010 as a Human Resources Specialist, Employment Policy Division, Assistant G-1 for Civilian Personnel, Office of the Deputy Chief of Staff, G-1. Ms. Crowley was instrumental in shaping and implementing several proactive human resources initiatives for the Army Workers' Compensation Program. Her program development and management initiatives decreased costs by about $10 million. In addition, using the Department of Defense Pipeline Program, she made significant strides in returning long-term claimants to work during 2010. The resulting future cost avoidance of more than $128 million was solely attributable to her leadership, subject matter expertise, and the training, coordination, and oversight she put into place. Ms. Crowley's outstanding accomplishments are in keeping with the highest traditions of government service and are a great credit to her; the Office of the Deputy Chief of Staff, G-1; and the Department of the Army.

Calendar Year 2010

Military
Recipient of the Pace Award

Lieutenant Colonel Patrick L. Walden

Senior Acquisition Program Analyst
Office of the Deputy Chief of Staff, G-8

Lieutenant Colonel Walden is recognized for his significant contributions to the Department of the Army during calendar year 2010 as a Senior Acquisition Program Analyst, Program Analysis and Evaluation Directorate, Office of the Deputy Chief of Staff, G-8. Lieutenant Colonel Walden's accurate, timely, and original analyses were instrumental in retaining significant Army resourcing and preventing the loss of $324 million in total obligation authority. More significantly, he developed a comprehensive analysis of research, development, and acquisition funding requirements for Army equipment that gave senior Army leaders the long-desired metrics to ensure that the Army's equipment programs are properly resourced to support Soldiers today and into the future. His unique ability to quickly examine a complex problem, analyze it, and provide clear, insightful recommendations directly influenced senior leadership decisions internal and external to the Army. His selfless dedication and clear concern for our Soldiers influenced every aspect of the Army's equipment modernization process and will continue to do so into the future. Lieutenant Colonel Walden's outstanding accomplishments are in keeping with the highest traditions of military service and are a great credit to him; the Office of the Deputy Chief of Staff, G-8; and the Department of the Army.

The Honorable
Joseph W. Westphal
Under Secretary of the Army

Dr. Joseph W. Westphal currently serves as the 30th Under Secretary of the Army. He has had a distinguished career of service in both academia and government.

Dr. Westphal served as Chancellor of the University of Maine System and Professor of Political Science at the University of Maine. He also served as the Provost, Senior Vice President for Research, and Professor of Environmental Studies at The New School in New York City. He stepped down from this position to serve as a member of President Obama's Transition Team for Defense matters in December 2008.

Dr. Westphal spent his first 12 years in academia as a faculty member of Oklahoma State University, where he worked as a professor of political science, later becoming head of the department. During his many years of public service, Dr. Westphal has lectured at numerous universities around the world and taught public policy as an Adjunct Professor at Georgetown University while working in Washington, DC.

In addition to a distinguished academic career, Dr. Westphal has had a prestigious and varied career in public service. During 2001, he served as the Acting Secretary of the Army, and from 1998 to 2001, he served as the Assistant Secretary of the Army (Civil Works).

Dr. Westphal has extensive experience working in the U.S. Congress and other departments within the executive branch. He served as the Senior Policy Advisor for Water Resources at the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency during the Clinton Administration. He also worked in Congress in various capacities, including directing a bipartisan congressional caucus in the House and Senate, serving as a budget analyst and assistant to the Chairman of the U.S. House Committee on the Budget, and working on Members' staffs. Earlier in his public service career, Dr. Westphal worked as a policy advisor to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior.

Dr. Westphal received his bachelor's degree from Adelphi University, his master's degree from Oklahoma State University, and his Ph.D. in Political Science from the University of Missouri-Columbia. He is married and has four children and six grandchildren.
